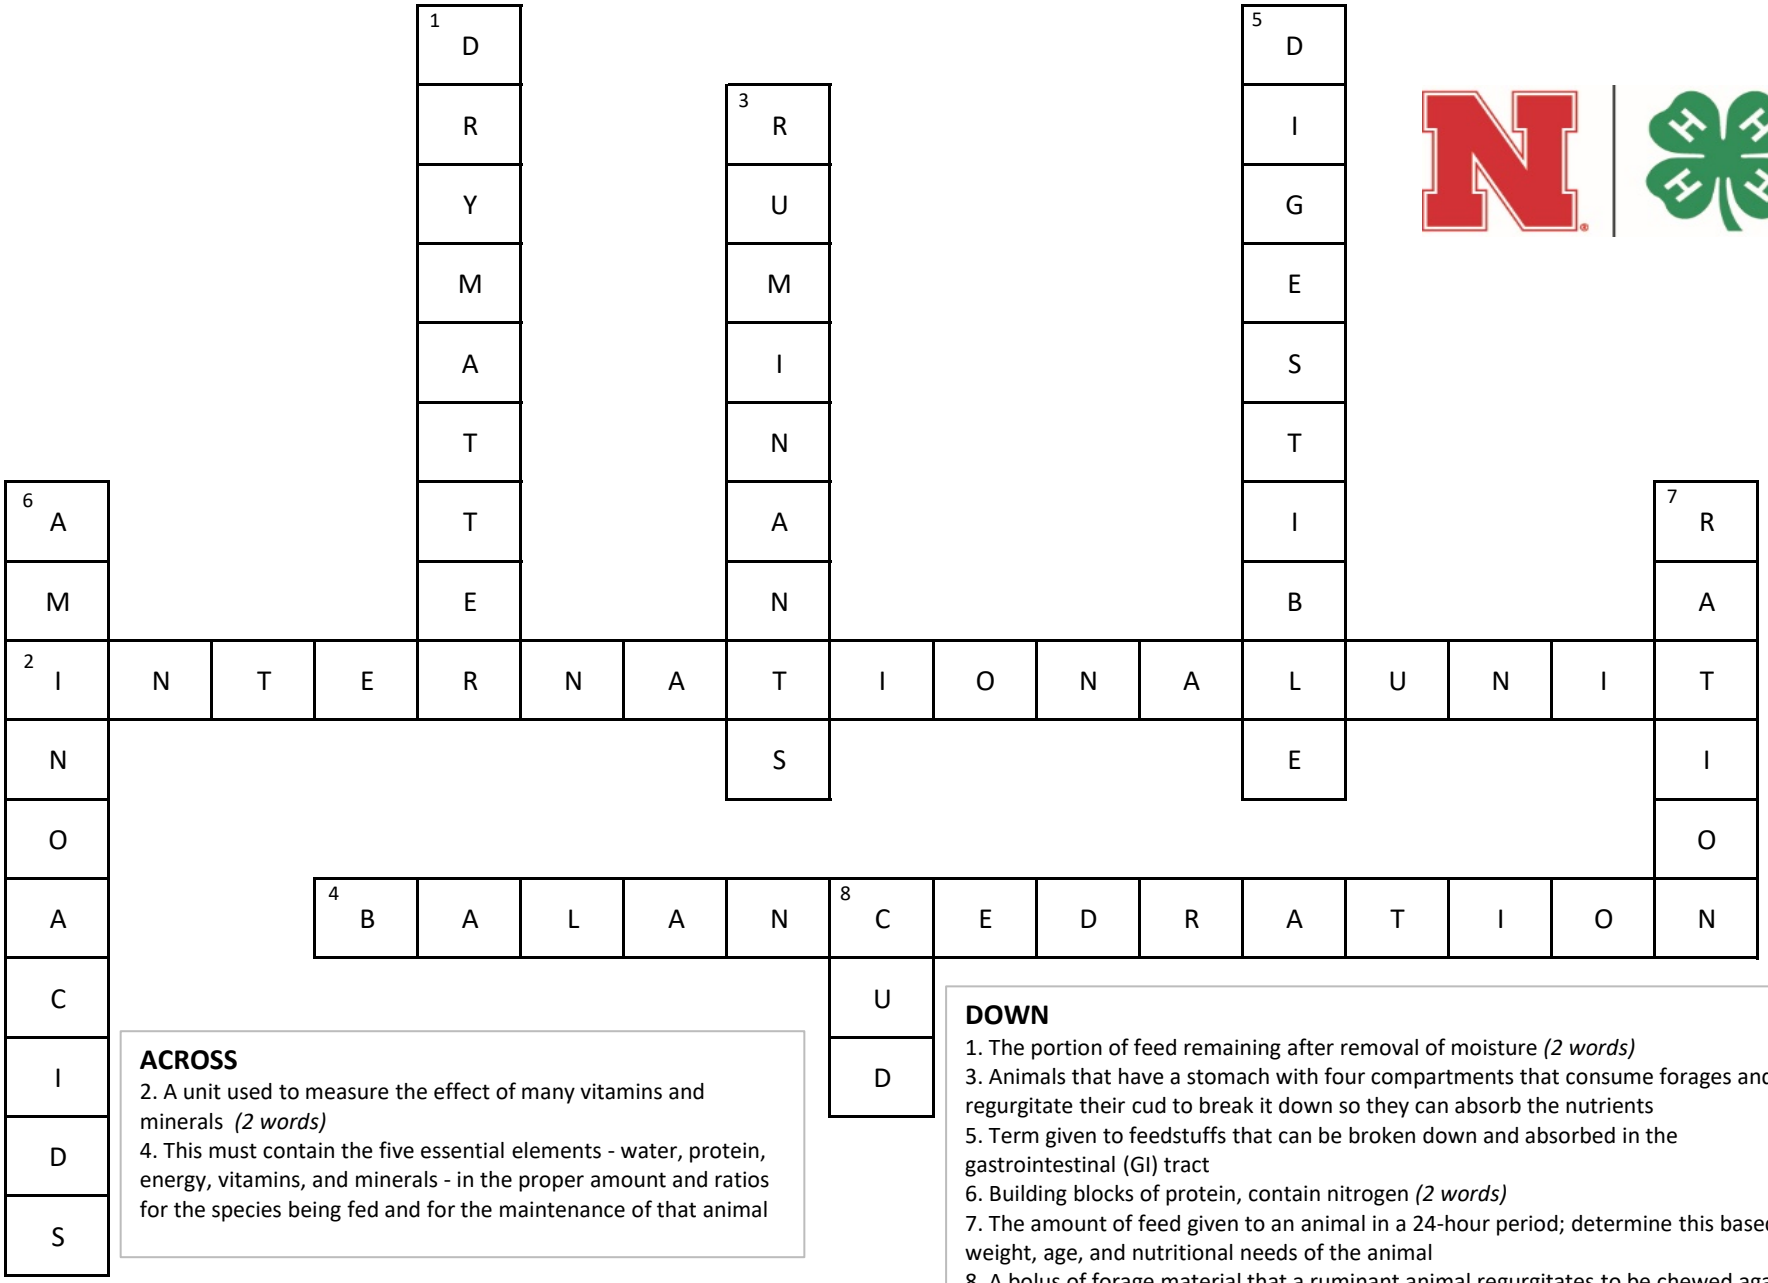
FEED and NUTRITION LIVESTOCK LINGO 1.0



ACROSS

2. A unit used to measure the effect of many vitamins and minerals (2 words)
4. This must contain the five essential elements - water, protein, energy, vitamins, and minerals - in the proper amount and ratios for the species being fed and for the maintenance of that animal

DOWN

1. The portion of feed remaining after removal of moisture (2 words)
3. Animals that have a stomach with four compartments that consume forages and regurgitate their cud to break it down so they can absorb the nutrients
5. Term given to feedstuffs that can be broken down and absorbed in the gastrointestinal (GI) tract
6. Building blocks of protein, contain nitrogen (2 words)
7. The amount of feed given to an animal in a 24-hour period; determine this based on weight, age, and nutritional needs of the animal
8. A bolus of forage material that a ruminant animal regurgitates to be chewed again