

4-H CLUB BOOTHS

Judge: Dee Morrison

Purple award $5.00, blue award $4.00, red award $3.00, white award $2.00

Clubs are encouraged to be as economical as possible when decorating their booth. No spray paint is to be sprayed in the 4-H Building. Spray painting may be done outside and articles may be brought inside. All decorations used in the booth must be flame resistant. No straw or hay bales.

Booths incorporating copyrighted materials, like cartoon characters "Peanuts" or commercial product names, will be lowered one ribbon. Booths will be judged on the following points:

- 50% Effectiveness
  - A definite 4-H message geared to a particular audience
  - Attracts and holds attention and causes action
  - Conveys a single thought or idea
  - Message is brief yet clear to viewer
- 50% Design
  - Arranged in pleasing and logical manner
  - Color used effectively
  - Lettering easy to read and draws attention
  - Educational value

Booth decoration and arrangement will be completed by 9:30 p.m. on Wednesday.

Judges will evaluate agricultural and home economics booths separately. Home economics will not compete against agricultural, and vice versa. Clubs carrying agriculture or home economics projects are eligible to compete for this prize.

If agricultural clubs want to compete for the champion booth honors their booth must be judged with home economics booths. Clubs must tell the home economist by 5:00 p.m. on Tuesday which division they want to be judged in. Booths will be judged at 9:00 a.m. on Thursday. Posters and all remaining exhibits will be judged after the booths are judged.

*B-150-900 Club Booths – club desiring a booth in the 4-H Building will be assigned an area if space permits. It is the responsibility of members and leaders to prepare/decorate the area. During the fair, the floor area in front of the booth will be maintained by the club, and considered in judging of booths. At the close of the fair, the booth will be disassembled and trash and paper taken to the designated area. Failure to comply with the disassembling rule will forfeit premiums paid to the club members by the Fair Board.
