POSSIBLE OPPORTUNITY TO EARN THE COST OF THE TRIP

In past years, Cherry County CWF has formed an organization of potential CWF trip participants and their parents that actively work at money-raising projects over three years under an established set of policy guidelines. Money earned by the participants is held in an account for each individual to help pay the cost of the trip. Previous CWF attendees have earned anywhere from several hundred dollars to the entire cost of the trip. This fund raising aspect of the trip will be available only if several parents are willing to serve on an Executive Board, parents are willing to organize and assume responsibility for the various fund raising activities, and one parent will volunteer to be the Treasurer who is willing to work under UNL and local CWF guidelines to record earnings for each participant, make deposits, pay bills, submit reports, etc. for the entire three year period.

Examples of past fund raising activities have included:

- running concession stands
- participating in individual incentive sales of food items, and evergreen Christmas items
