

Colfax County

2021 Impact At-A-Glance

Brought to you by Nebraska Extension

colfax.unl.edu

Nebraska Extension in Colfax County is dedicated to growing tomorrow's true leaders and inspiring youth to reach their post-secondary education goals.

Growing up as the youngest of three, Abigail Langdon always knew she would be involved in 4-H. She watched her siblings participate every year, until she was finally old enough! Now, as a sophomore at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, she credits 4-H and Nebraska Extension for giving her the opportunities to educate others in 4-H, agriculture, and STEM education. Abby said "Nebraska Extension and Nebraska 4-H has opened many doors for me. Both have allowed me to be a role model for younger youth, time management skills, attain internships in Extension, and network with future colleagues."

Programs At-A-Glance

- 44% of age eligible youth in Colfax County were reached by 4-H clubs, robotics, school enrichment and workshops amid the COVID-19 pandemic.
- DNA Detectives: Meeting needs of local educators through the creation of new programs. DNA Detectives allows youth to explore the world of DNA and identify their own visible traits.

65% Colfax County classrooms touched by 4-H programming.

2 Full time 4-H staff are dedicated to expanding 4-H and Extension learning opportunities.

29 Schuyler community members participated in the first two Leadership Schuyler programs!