An exciting new collaboration began between Harlan County Extension and the preschool class at Under The Umbrella Day Care. Participants engage in hands-on activities focusing on Agriculture Literacy.

Mindy is the preschool teacher at Under The Umbrella Day Care in Alma. Starting this Fall, she has welcomed the Harlan County Extension team into her classroom to engage her students in a series of Agriculture Literacy lessons. “The preschoolers have been very fortunate by having the Harlan County Extension educators come visit! We have loved having them and enjoyed the many activities they’ve shared with us! They have provided many hands-on activities, as well as providing our students with an abundant amount of knowledge about the agricultural industry that surrounds our community.”
