

Red Willow County

2021 Impact At-A-Glance

Brought to you by Nebraska Extension

redwillow.unl.edu

4-H has been a huge part of my life for 12 years now. I have learned to be a role model for younger 4-Hers, a reliable peer, kind-hearted, and lastly an advocate for 4-H.

As chairman of the Driftwood Feeders 4-H club's 100 year anniversary, Addyson Uerling said she learned so much about the older generation, as she gathered memorabilia. She shared her favorite part was seeing past members smile as they saw pictures, and videos of their younger selves. As part of the club, Addyson has done numerous community service acts, such as making dresses for children in Haiti, helping the Nebraska flood victims, spending time with elderly residents, highway clean ups and helping make the fairgrounds look spotless. She is also a youth representative for the 4-H Council.

Programs At-A-Glance

- 6 childcare programs signed up for Step Up to Quality with incentives from Communities for Kids.
- 3 Early childhood professionals are part of Rooted in Relationships which involves trainings, coaching, and collaboration with other early childhood professionals.

724 youth reached through programming.

31 5-7 year olds attended the Clover Kids Creepy Crawlies camp.

53 attended private pesticide training.