

Antelope County

2020 Impact At-A-Glance

Brought to you by Nebraska Extension

antelope.unl.edu

Hunger affects 800 people in Antelope County. To help combat this, Nebraska Extension encouraged residents to grow an extra row of produce in their gardens and donate that harvest to the food pantry.

For one Antelope County resident, she not only receives food from the food pantry, but also donates fresh garden produce to the pantry. She donates because she believes in sustainability and also likes to do what she can to give back. She believes that the Grow-A-Row program and the work of the food pantry is important for supporting people in times of need. Whether it be financial, time, or food donations, all play a vital role in the success of the food pantry's mission.

Programs At-A-Glance

- Through Connecting the Dots, an interactive career exploration simulation, 115 students increased their ability to demonstrate professional communication and make informed decisions about their college and career aspirations.
- 8 students participated in Read for the Record which brought young children together with caring adults to read the same book on the same day in communities all across the world.

89% of students said that Connecting the Dots helped them make a decision about college.

1 IN 4 age eligible youth are enrolled in Antelope County 4-H

62% of age eligible youth have been reached by clubs, school enrichment, after school programs, & camps