4-H workshops help provide youth members opportunities to gain lifelong skills within a variety of topics including cooking, sewing, photography, and more.

Rebecca Reece recently graduated from high school and started college this fall. In reflecting over her 4-H experience, she feels that the public speaking contest, camps, and workshops helped prepare her for her future. During summer camps she gained skills in working with other kids from different areas, improving her people and communication skills. From the workshops she felt like she gained lifelong skills including how to correctly and safely use knives and different kitchen appliances. She has taken these skills to help her as a new college student.

Programs At-A-Glance The Shooting Sports program helps youth members learn how to handle guns safely and improve their accuracy while shooting. Three Sioux County members placed within the top 10 of BB Gun at the State Competition and two won the Precision Air Rifle State Competition.
