HEALTH AND WELL-BEING LIVESTOCK LINGO

1 1. To inoculate with a vaccine in order to produce immunity to an infection or disease 3. These are usually animals that are advanced in age, but may also be animals that have eaten off of a dirt pen floor where they may chew rocks, thus breaking their teeth. These animals may need additional or more easily consumed feed products. 4. A naturally hornless animal 5. The removal of the majority of the tail, leaving a small portion closest to the body 7. Removal of horns from animals when they are young, making them easier to handle and less likely to injure each other and human handlers				n age, dirt king or	4				5
2	5								7
6		ACROSS 2. The amount of for the product of the product of the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the control of the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with the provided (two with 6. The remainder 8. An animal with 6. The remainder 8. And 6. And 6. The remainder 8. And 6. And 6. The remainder 8. And 6. A	concentration of animals incontraction of a drug ir of a drug ir	on level in dividually	the tissues pulled out	to decreas of a larger	se to a safe group of a	e, acceptab inimals in v	ole level for which indivi	possible h dual care c	uman cons	umption