

Moravec Selected as ARDC Employee of the Year

Near Mead, NE – Lisa Moravec has been selected as the recipient of the 2009 Employee of the Year Award at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Agricultural Research and Development Center (ARDC).

Sponsored by the ARDC/UNL Extension in Saunders County Social Committee, fellow employees nominate candidates and supervisors, employees and the social committee then submit scoring forms.

Lisa is a Staff Assistant with Husker Genetics at the ARDC. Also nominated were Cheryl Dunbar, Luke Herdzina, and Deloris Pittman.

A nominator for Lisa stated, "Lisa's business functions support for our unit to make the daily operations flow smoothly. She is irreplaceable in her support of the Director's position and responsibilities.."

Lisa is responsible for the business office functions of Husker Genetics since 2000, such as taking orders, accounting, and other duties. She possesses a bachelor's degree in Agriculture with a major in Ag Education from UNL. She and her husband, Kent, live near Ithaca and have a son and daughter. Husker Genetics production facilities and business office are located at the ARDC.

In addition to receiving a plaque, Lisa was also honored with prizes solicited and organized by the ARDC/UNL Extension in Saunders County Social Committee. Prize donors included the Champions Club, Behlen Manufacturing, and the Hilltop Country Club. Lisa will also be recognized on a plaque displayed indefinitely at the ARDC August N. Christenson Research and Education Building.

This is the eighth year the award has been presented. Past winners can be viewed online at <http://ardc.unl.edu/eoy.shtml>.

The Agricultural Research and Development Center and UNL Extension are divisions of the University's Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources.

###

Photo: Lisa Moravec was presented with the Employee of the Year plaque by Mark Schroeder, ARDC Director.