Anderson Selected as ARDC Employee of the Year

Rich Anderson has been selected as the recipient of the 2016 ARDC Employee of the Year Award. Sponsored by the social/benefits committee at the ARDC, fellow employees nominate candidates. Supervisors, employees and the committee then submit scoring forms.

Anderson has worked at the ARDC for 35 years and serves as the trades supervisor for the facilities operations unit. Also nominated were: Cheryl Dunbar (Extension), Matt Sillivan (beef feedlot), and Nate Thorson (farm operations).

Statements taken from Anderson's nomination included, "Rich is very productive and dependable in managing many projects and personnel involving a large area of responsibility. He is very committed to ensure that work is completed in a timely fashion with regards to work load, priority and labor availability. Rich is very positive and proactive in carrying out his responsibilities for job completion and overall maintenance needs for the ARDC facilities."

Anderson was also honored with prizes solicited and organized by the social/benefits committee at the ARDC. Prize donors included Wahoo Livestock Commission and Mead Cattle Company.

This is the fifteenth year the award has been presented. Past winners can be viewed online at http://ardc.unl.edu/eoy.
