Re: 2023 Merlyn Anderson 4-H Scholarship Application

I have enclosed the application information for the 2023 Merlyn Anderson Memorial 4-H Scholarships. Past winners have been selected from the following schools.

	TOTAL
Tri-County	22
Norris	30
Wilber/Clatonia	25
Wymore Southern	23
Beatrice	28
Diller-Odell	18
Freeman	7
Lewiston	33
Fairbury	6
Meridian

Grand Total $469,250 for 227 Students

We received 17 applications for these scholarships last year. A number of the applications could not be included in the judging because the students were not aimed toward agriculture studies (broadly interpreted). What do we mean when we say (broadly interpreted)? We want to expand the meaning of traditional agriculture to include related fields. Here are a few examples of how the committee might view this requirement.

Chemistry: Probably Not
Teacher: Probably Not
Home Economics: No

Biochemistry: Probably Yes
Vo-Ag Teacher: Yes
Food Science: Probably Yes

Agronomy, Animal Science, Plant Pathology, Vet Science, Entomology, Horticulture, Ag Business, Ag Journalism, Biological Systems Engineering: Yes

The committee is going to evaluate each application separately on this issue based on what the students tell us in the application. WE do not want to make a clear cut rule on this area because agriculture is a very broad field and includes lots of associated professional career choices.

Please include an announcement for the Merlyn Anderson Memorial 4-H Scholarship in your Scholarship information packet going to this year's seniors.

The life of Merlyn Anderson

Merlyn (Mrs. Charles A. Anderson) was a world traveler, a librarian, an engaging conversationalist, an active and caring community person, a devoted wife and a beloved friend of those who knew her throughout the world. Merlyn was born in Dixon, Illinois in 1897 and moved to Beatrice to become a City Librarian in 1918. Merlyn's husband, Dr. Charles A. Anderson was a Beatrice dentist prior to World War II. During the war he served his country and achieved the rank of Colonel. Colonel Anderson was a Military Governor in Korea following its liberation from the Japanese.

That is where 4-H fits into his story. Colonel Anderson carried the 4-H idea to Korea as a way for young people and families to grow and learn new ideas in agriculture and positive self-concept. The Korean Conflict put a sudden stop into his first efforts to get 4-H started in Korea. As part of the reparation team in Korea following the war his efforts were successful. A Farm Journal article heralded him "Grandfather to ½ Million Kids" which was the 4-H membership when he left Korea in the late 50's. Thanks to those beginnings, South Korea has the largest 4-H program outside the United States. Merlyn was a partner to these efforts both in Korea and stateside. She made three around-the-world trips to such exotic places as Cairo, Kabul, Singapore, Tahiti, Sydney, and the Galapagos Islands and many of the trips were traveling alone, when such travel by a woman alone was rare. Merlyn had a treasure, a story, and friends at nearly every place she visited.

Merlyn has established a trust through her will to support students from the Gage and Jefferson area who are interested in Agricultural Studies (broadly interpreted). Preference is to be given to students who have been involved in 4-H. Applicants should have a GPA 2.5 or higher.

Scholarship Application

Applicant needs to submit three items: the attached application form, a typed essay of not more than two pages (doubled-spaced), and one letter of recommendation from a person of your choice. The essay should deal with your personal and academic goals. The scholarship form can be accessed in MS-Word online at gage.unl.edu, Click on Gage County Info, Select 4-H & Youth, Select Scholarship.

The Merlyn Anderson 4-H Memorial Scholarship will be awarded to 6-9 students and range in value from $1000 to $2500. The scholarships are available to all colleges, universities, technical schools, community colleges or trade schools for students in agricultural studies. The scholarship funds will be paid to the school and can be used for all school related expenses including tuition, room and board, fees, and books
