Bees are a crucial part of Nebraska's crop production. They pollinate a variety of foods (honeybees alone pollinate about $15 billion in crops each year)! However, many pollinators in the United States are listed as federally endangered species, partially due to habitat loss. About 30% of bees nest above ground utilizing plant stems, woodblocks, and tree cavities. But you can help us start to solve this problem! By joining this workshop, you will create a bee habitat for your own backyard!

- Do not need to be enrolled in 4-H to attend any workshop
- Offered in 1 hour sessions with a 1/2 hour lunch break—bring a sack lunch
- Participate in one or 4 of the sessions
- All items created can be submitted as 4-H projects
