Art

- Make a “feelings” collage by cutting pictures of different faces out of magazines and gluing them and other items such as sequins, glitter, etc. on a piece of poster board.
- Since the story is about one child, the pictures of the “feeling faces” are not very diverse. Take pictures of all the children in the classroom making faces that show different feelings (disappointed, proud, embarrassed, scared, angry, excited and lonely). Make a new On Monday When it Rained book --- with the pictures showing the children in your setting.
